

WOOD
LIGHTING
DESIGN

Wood Lighting Design offers unique timeless designs handmade in Bend, Oregon. Dedicated to the highest quality of materials and craftsmanship, each lamp is an artistic statement incorporating natural materials as a three-dimensional sculpture. The designs utilize bent wood in dynamic tension giving a sense of aliveness to each piece. The light they bring gives an atmosphere of warmth and nature as it shines directly through the translucent wood veneer. The grain of the wood veneer varies uniquely, as in nature, giving a one-of-a-kind quality.

MEET THE OWNERS

Matt and Julia Wagoner who are the crafters, designers, and force behind Wood Lighting Design. Mentored by Julia's father Harry Weitzer, who was a pioneer of mid-century design, with a storehouse of woodworking knowledge, started them off in this successful venture. Harry enthusiastically motivated them to achieve new heights in the creation of wood veneer lighting. Julia & Matt are proud to continue the family legacy and use that spark to bring their designs to the world. At a time when people truly value products made in the USA Matt and Julia are proud to provide made in America, ecological, and hand-crafted lighting.

JULIA WAGONER

DESIGNER | CO-OWNER

Julia has been an accomplished designer and artist for over thirty years, proven through accolades and museum spotlights. Her innovation in lighting with the use of wood is unparalleled. She utilizes the mentorship from her father, with his personal experience of the Bau Haus movement, in the Mid-Century, at Black Mountain College. She is eager to continue designing lighting applying her accomplishments in American Craft using natural materials.

MATT WAGONER

TECHNICIAN | CO-OWNER

Also known as "Mattgyver", Matt's upbringing involved learning from his father, Jack, how to repair almost anything as well as fine woodworking. His family traveled all over the world and were exposed to many diverse cultural experiences. As an aspiring opera singer Matt participated in over 300 performances as a member of the Bohemian Club. Matt has as a deep understanding of aesthetics as well as production efficiencies which has allowed him to be prolific as a craftsman.

JOSH WEITZER

EUROPEAN SALES & PRODUCTION

Josh decided to move to Barcelona, Spain over 20 years ago and has always been inspired by its rich tradition of design and architecture. As well, he has always taken a keen interest in lighting design and is proud to be a part of the Wood Lighting Design family. Taking cues from his grandfather, father and of course his aunt Julia Wagoner, he is excited to put his knowledge of woodworking and lighting together to help expand the family of lights that Wood Lighting Design shares with the world.

JULIA WEITZER

US SALES & PRODUCTION

Julia Weitzer is part of the third generation to join Wood Lighting Design and continue on the woodworking legacy begun by her grandfather and envisioned by her aunt Julia Wagoner. Her childhood is full of fond memories of working on carpentry projects in her father's workshop, learning from him how to use both simple and complex woodworking machinery and tools such as chisels, hand planers and the lathe. She still remembers her first attempts in her teenage years at woodworking production, creating pieces that stood the test of time and are still in use around her parents' kitchen. She returned to her woodworking roots after graduating in Sociology and developing her career in Europe and it is with great pride that she has taken up the artisan family tradition that runs strong through the Weitzer family.
